2. Theory: The final -ed ending has three different pronunciations:

1: Final -ed is pronounced /t/ after all voiceless sounds

Voiceless sounds are made by pushing air through your mouth; no sound comes from your throat.
Examples of voiceless sounds: "K", "P", "S", "Ch", "Sh", "F" - (/p/, /s/, /k/, /f/, /ʃ/, /tʃ/ or /θ/)

2: Final -ed is pronounced /d/ after voiced sounds

Voiced sounds come from your throat. Touch your neck when you make a voiced sound, you can feel your voice box vibrate. Examples of voiced sounds: /b/, /g/, /l/, /z/, /v/, /dʒ/, /ð/, /m/, /n/, or /ŋ/ - and all vowel sounds.

3: Final -ed is pronounced /id/ after "T", and "D" sounds

The sound /id/ adds a whole syllable to a word.

Example: Looked ◊ look/t/ = one syllable; Needed ◊ need/ed/ = two syllables

Exceptions: the following adjectives ending in -ed are always pronounced with /id/:
aged – blessed – crooked – dogged – naked – ragged – wicked – wretched

→Homophones: hare & hair, hear & here, hire & higher

There are some - h words where the - h is silent: HONOUR, HOUR, HONEST, HEIR

Word stress

1. Read aloud

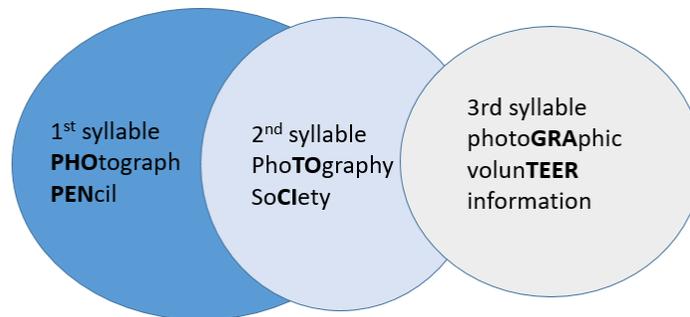

Permit (noun)
To permit
Hesitation

University
Mathematics
Geometric
Vanish

Accelerate

2. Theory

Emphasis is placed on a syllable by pronouncing it more loudly than those that surround it.

In the phonetic transcription, there is an apostrophe before the syllable that is stressed:

Nephew ['nefjU'] : the first syllable is stressed

Analysis ['nQl'sis] : the second syllable is stressed

Hesitation [hezl'teIsn] : the third syllable is stressed

There are few rules to determine what syllable is stressed. Practice will gradually improve your ability to stress words properly.

1. Stress the first syllable of:

- Most two-syllable nouns (examples: CLImate, KNOWledge)
- Most two-syllable adjectives (examples: FLIPpant, SPACious)

2. Stress the last syllable of:

- Most two-syllable verbs (examples: reQUIRE, deCIDE)

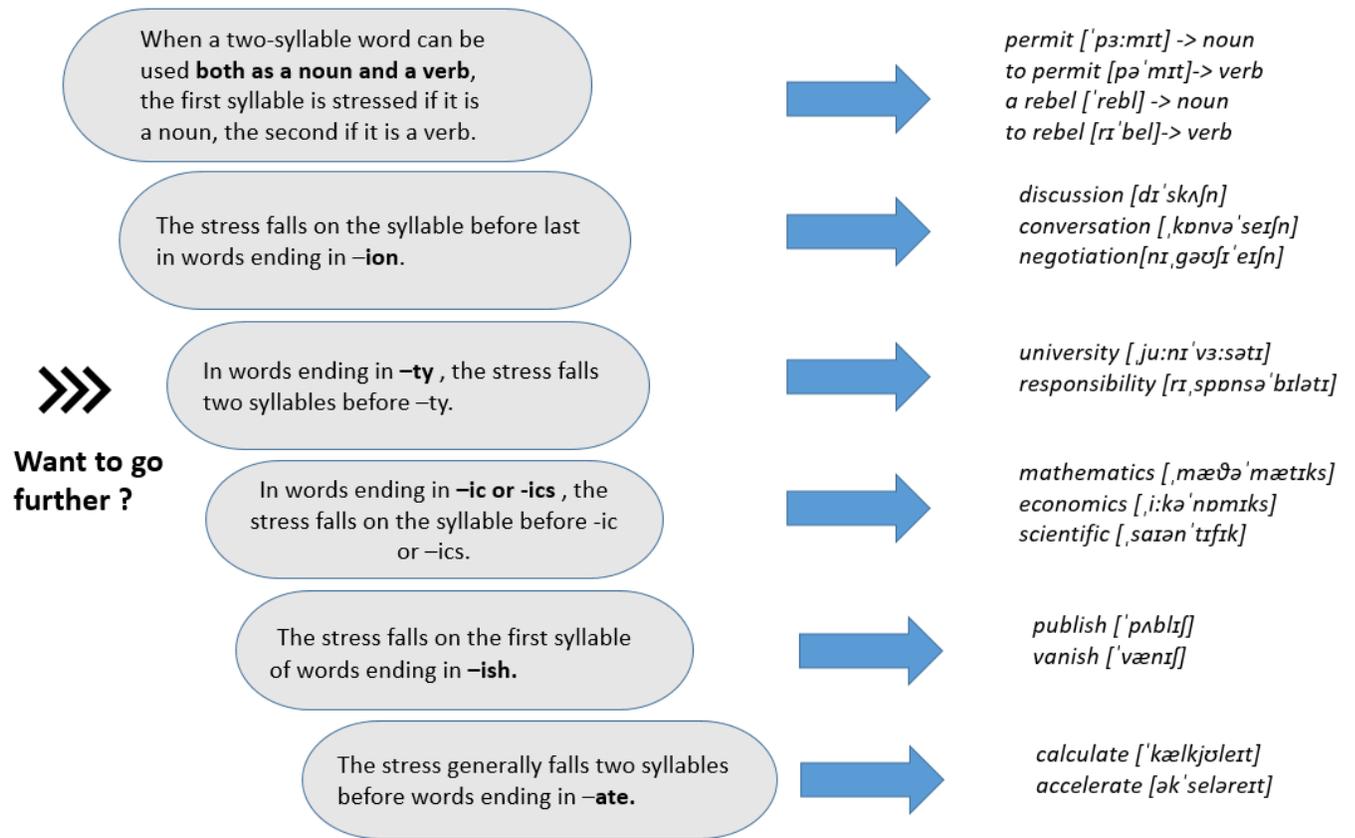

3. Stress the second-to-last syllable of:

- Words that end in -ic (examples: ecSTATic, geoGRAPHic)
- Words ending in -sion and -tion (examples: exTENSion, retriBUTion)

4. Stress the third-from-last syllable of:

- Words that end in -cy, -ty, -phy and -gy (examples: deMOCracy, unCERTainty, geOGRAPHy, radiOLogy)
- Words that end in -al (examples: exCEPTional, CRITical)

Sentence stress

I said she might consider a new haircut.	She should think about it. It's a good idea.
I said she might consider a new haircut.	Not just a haircut.
I said she might consider a new haircut .	Nothing else.

2. Theory

English spends more time on specific stressed words while quickly gliding over the other, less important, words. Example: 'She bought a new car' probably has main stress on 'car' and secondary stress on 'bought'. Normally this emphasis is on words that carry important information, although this can change significantly, depending on the specific meaning the speaker wants to communicate.

Example:

Helen: Have you seen that new film with Tom Cruise?
 John: No, but I saw the last one he was in. It was terrible!
